

Test Well Near Prairie Grove
Has Good Flow of Gas.

Special to the Gazette. ^{1/2-30}
Fayetteville, Jan. 24.—D. Groves and several of his associates of the oil test well, one mile west of Prairie Grove, reported today that the well is 565 feet and has a good flow of gas. It is estimated to be about 1,000,000 feet.

Work has been suspended during the cold weather of the past 10 days. Casing will be used to shut off water now standing in the hole. Groves reports that a showing of oil was found at about 275 feet. Gas was struck at 365.

Fayetteville Mayor Ignites First Natural Gas in City.

Special to the Gazette. ^{193 X}
Fayetteville, Feb. 20.—A program welcoming the turning on of natural gas in Fayetteville and opening the three-day natural gas exposition at the National Guard armory was held tonight at the armory.

A torch, connected to a line laid into the armory, was lighted by Mayor T. S. Tribble, the first gas to be lighted in the city. Mains have been laid over Fayetteville. They were tested yesterday and today and installation of meters will be started Friday.

A crew of 25 or 30 men will be kept at work in this section for the next year and a half by the Arkansas Western Gas Company, holder of franchises here and in smaller towns over this locality, extending the pipe lines over northwest Arkansas. Bentonville, Rogers, Springdale, Gentry and Siloam Springs are to have gas soon.

A warehouse will be erected here soon by the company, and plans are being drawn for an office building to be erected within a short time.

torney announced that the prosecution was ready to begin with the trials.

Travis county officers are still devoting the major portion of their time to working on the case, according to their statements. While quizzing the officers brought forth little information as to anything accomplished, general rumor has it that evidence has been collected in sufficient amount to warrant the filing of several complaints after the conclusion of the examining trials set for today.

"You can say for me," said Chief Deputy John Du Priest, "that, statements of attorneys to the contrary, there is somebody working on this case besides Constable 'Chas. Hamby."

"Travis officers are giving everything they have to this investigation. If any attorney wishes to state the opposite, let him call names."

Dust Kicking Charged

"I subscribe to all John says," said Deputy Sheriff Rex Fowler.

"As a matter of fact both sides aren't doing anything but kicking up a lot of dust in the officers' eyes."

Several anonymous communications giving "tips" on the Ku Klux investigation have been received by Earl Shelton since the filing of the complaints by the Austin attorney last Friday morning. It was learned from Mr. Shelton Wednesday. Two of these communications were in the form of threats, one being to the effect that unless he desisted in his prosecution of those now accused of complicity in Clayton's death he would receive serious bodily harm. This letter was from Houston.

D. A. Gregg, one of the organizers of the Loyal Liberty League, issued a statement Wednesday in which he denied that the organization was anti-Ku Klux. Mr. Gregg said that his statement had been made in answer to persistent rumors said to have been circulated that the Loyal Liberty League is in opposition to the Klan.

The Austin man pointed out that the Loyal Liberty League was organized several years ago and was a fraternal beneficiary association. Judge George Mendell is the local president of the organization, said the statement.

"I have refused to become a member of the Ku Klux or the Anti-Ku Klux, and will continue to do so," said Mr. Gregg.

Issues Statement

His statement in full is as follows:

"My attention has been called to recent statements made indiscriminately that Council No. 1, National Liberty League, was an Anti-Ku Klux Klan organization. I have made it a rule not to dignify rumors with a formal denial, but in this instance I desire to make the following statement: This organization filed its charter under the laws of the state of Texas several years ago before the Ku Klux was ever thought of under its present method and form of organization.

"It is a fraternal beneficiary organization. It furnishes a physician to its members and his immediate family in case of sickness, it looks after the unemployed among its members and aids them to get employment. Its teachings are purely patriotic and are designed to promote a greater love of country and respect for its flag, the constitution and bill of rights. It pledges its members to an observance of the laws of our country under any and all circumstances."

"No one but a bona fide American citizen can become a member. This organization was conceived during the days when patriotism was uppermost in the minds of the entire citizenship of the country and is designed to promote and continue this patriotic feeling. The entire list of membership is open at all times to anyone who wants to see the list.

If there is anyone who is ashamed to let it be known that he is a member he will be immediately dropped from the membership rolls, Council No. 1, National Liberty League, has its council chamber and club rooms on Colorado street, just south of the Elks' Building. I am one of the original incorporators, wrote the ritual, constitution and by-laws, and am the president of the general organization. Judge George Mendell is the local president. I have refused to become a member of the Ku Klux or the Anti-Ku Klux and will continue to do so. Some of my best friends belong to the Ku Klux and are members of the same lodge of Masons, Knights of Pythias and Praetorians as myself. I know nothing at all of any Anti-Ku Klux organization, and am glad of it.

(Signed) "D. A. GREGG."

Old Oil Stocks – in progress “R”

Petroleum Companies

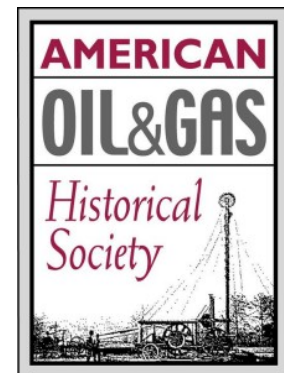

There's not much of a chance of discovering financial information here in Old Oil Stocks – in progress “R” that will lead to lost riches – see Not a Millionaire from Old Oil Stock. The American Oil & Gas Historical Society needs support, and does not have resources to provide free research.

However, AOGHS continues to look into forum queries as part of its energy education mission. Some investigations have revealed little-known stories like Buffalo Bill's Shoshone Oil Company; many others have found questionable dealings during booms and epidemics of “black gold” fever like Arctic Explorer turns Oil Promoter.

Visit the Stock Certificate Q & A Forum and view company updates regularly added to the A-to-Z listing at Is my Old Oil Stock worth Anything? AOGHS will continue to look into forum queries, including these “in progress.”

Railroad Employees Oil Company

In August 1951 the Stephens County district court clerk announced that among other absentee enterprises, Railroad Employees Oil Company was being sued (Case Number 14,886) and ordered to appear in court. “Defendants have been absent from Stephens County and the state of Texas for more than five years,” the suit alleged. “Defendants have not paid any taxes on the mineral interest.”

The many plaintiffs in the case, sought to have a receiver appointed, “for the purpose of selling, executing and delivering an oil and gas lease covering the undivided mineral interest of said Defendants.” The Texas Railroad Commission should have more information on the Railroad Employees Oil Company.

Railroaders’ Oil Company

Railroaders’ Oil Company, Railroaders’ Gas Company, and Railroaders’ Oil & Gas Company all appear to be variants of the same company. In 1920 Railroaders’ Oil was organized in Louisville, Kentucky, capitalized at $2 million. Officers were: T.J. Heaton, president and J.J. O’Malley, both of Milwaukee, Wisconsin. Oil exploration operations were soon underway in along the Ohio River in Harrison County, Indiana, with more than 30,000 acres under lease.

By June 1921 Railroaders' Oil had drilled five successful gas wells and was negotiating to provide natural gas from the Laconia field to New Albany, about 25 miles distant. National Petroleum News reported in 1926 the company – now called Railroaders' Oil & Gas Company – “has about 50 gas wells in the southern part of the county and are drilling more.”

By 1928 Railroaders' Oil & Gas had 40 wells in the Laconia field (Tobacco Landing and Dogwood areas) and the New Middleton field. But when Kentucky Pipe Line Company (an auxiliary of Louisville Gas & Electric) declined to buy its daily quota of natural gas for the city of Louisville, litigation ensued. Dry holes, pipeline costs and onset of the Great Depression then forced the company, by now known as Railroaders' Gas Company, into bankruptcy and receivership. It was absorbed by the Indiana Utility Corporation in 1929.

Ramsey Oil Company

Both Ramsey Oil Company and Pecos Natural Oil Company pursued oil in West Texas, circa 1917 to 1925. Wells were drilled in the vast Permian Basin, in sparsely populated Loving County, 120 miles west of Midland (and about 40 miles from today's Million Barrel Museum in Monahans). Loving County remains the least populous county in the United States.

Wildcatters James Jackson “J.J.” Wheat Sr. and Bladen F. Ramsey had earlier formed Toyah Bell Oil Company (1920), which became Ramsey Oil. The El Paso Herald reported Pecos Natural Oil's interest in a Toyah Bell exploratory well in Pecos County. In 1921 Toyah Bell Oil spudded two wells in Loving County. With a showing of oil at their first well, the No. 1 L.B. Russell, and a second well (No. 2 Russell) underway, Toyah Bell Oil changed its name to Ramsey Oil.

Ramsey Oil contracted to sell oil to El Paso's Rio Grande Oil & Refining Company for three dollars per barrel. The Oil Trade Journal called the Ramsey well, “one of the most promising wildcats anywhere in Texas” and noted that it had “stimulated wildcatting activities throughout the Pecos region.”

Despite its promising beginnings, the No. 1 L.B. Russell well's casing collapsed in 1922 and the well could not be saved. It was shut down at 4,485 feet and never completed as a producing well. “Because of bad casing and improper drilling, it was abandoned in 1925,” noted the Bureau of Economic Geology.

Bad luck continued in 1923 when the Russell No. 2 well was capped at 705 feet deep without finding oil. Wheat and Ramsey sold out to Pecos Valley Oil Company and Ramsey Oil Company disappeared. In 1925, Pecos Valley Oil drilled a mile south of Ramsey Oil's abandoned No. 1 L.B. Russell well – and completed Loving County's first commercial producer, the No. 1 Wheat, opening the Wheat oilfield.

Pecos Valley Oil became part of Sinclair Prairie Oil Company. Production from the Permian Basin's Wheat oilfield peaked in 1931 at more than 1.2 million barrels of oil. Although Ramsey Oil Company did not survive, the town it helped to create the town of Ramsey, named after oilman Bladen F. Ramsey. Now renamed Mentone, it remains the county seat of Loving County.

Ranger and Burkburnett Oil Company

Henry H. Hoffman was president of the Ranger and Burkburnett Oil Company, capitalized at $500,000. In 1921 he was sued by company stockholders. They soon objected to "the much discussed question of a promoter accepting blocks of stock in exchange for leases" in order to manipulate stock prices.

Shareowners alleged that leases, "costing Hoffman but little, were sold in the company for considerable blocks of stock." Stockholders sought appointment of a receiver, a verdict of $250,000 in damages against Hoffman, and cancellation of documents that gave him 275,000 shares of Ranger & Burkburnett Oil.

Ranger-Vindicator Oil & Development Company

As North Texas continued to experience a drilling boom, in 1922 the Ranger-Vindicator Oil and Development Company drilled its Thornton No. 1 well to a depth of 3,300 feet in Navarro County. Water intrusion ruined the well, about two miles west of Wortham. It apparently was not followed by any successful attempts. Two years later another company struck a gusher (the Roy Simmons No. 1) revealing an oilfield that produced three million barrels of oil by 1925.

Red Rock Oil & Gas Company

In 1917 Investment Weekly reported Red Rock Oil and Gas Company to be "an excellent purchase for early speculative profits." The company had incorporated in Oklahoma and issued 150,000 shares of stock (par value $1) in order to develop leases acquired in Neosho County, Kansas (160 acres); the Bixby oilfield, Oklahoma (80 acres); and Tulsa County, Oklahoma (80 acres).

These Mid-Continent field leases were near areas of proven production. Many nearby wells yielded both oil and natural gas. With producing zones ranging from 800 feet deep to 900 feet deep, drilling costs were about $1.25 per foot, according to Investment Weekly. The trade publication predicted the value of Red Rock Oil & Gas stock would sharply advance when the company brought in its first well, noting, "The unusual features of low capitalization, and evident early production are undoubtedly attracting attention to this (stock) issue."

The Investment Weekly prediction did not pan out. Red Rock Oil and Gas drilled in Colorado and Louisiana as well as Kansas and Oklahoma. It was still a viable company in 1921 – but by then its stock sold on the New York curb market for about 75 cents a share. Investment Weekly's enthusiasm waned.

"We do not believe that the prospects of Red Rock Oil & Gas Company, even as a speculation are particularly bright at this time," the editors concluded. In 1922 the company had some modest success in Louisiana's Webster Parish, but seems to disappear from financial records soon thereafter. A March 1905 oil discovery at Caddo-Pines near Shreveport had brought wildcatters to northern Louisiana. A museum in Oil City today tells the story.

Richey Oil Company

Richey Oil Company, a Montana corporation, formed in January 1952. Its founders may have been inspired by a Shell Oil Company oil discovery six months earlier near Richey, in Dawson County. Shell Oil's wildcat well produced 1,400 barrels of oil a day from about 7,250 feet deep.

The 1951 Shell Oil discovery well was the first commercial oil found in the Montana portion of the humongous Williston Basin (a portion that produced 868,595 barrels of oil per day in 2015). The petroleum-rich basin had been revealed earlier that year by North Dakota's first oil well.

The Shell Oil discovery prompted a rush of exploration companies to the county, including Richey Oil, which secured a lease in adjacent Richland County. On May 5, 1952, Richey Oil spudded its Otis Waters No. 1 well. Mr. Waters was the mayor of Richey. On June 25 the Helena, Montana, Independent Record reported bad news.

"The Richey Oil company's drill stem test at its wildcat well seven miles east of Shell's original discovery in the Montana part of the Williston basin was 'a fizzle,' Secretary-Treasurer John Whiteman of Richey reports," the newspaper noted. The well had reached a total depth of 7,565 feet before being given up as a dry hole. Plugged and abandoned in accordance with state regulations, the documents close with, "Welded Steel Plate Over Surface Pipe."

Montana secretary of state records show that Richey Oil Company was "Involuntarily Dissolved," which usually means a dissolution carried out through a court ruling. Creditors often seek a judicial resolution because of non-payments...or fraudulent activities by the directors.

Rockefeller Oil Company

On January 10, 1901, an oil gusher at Spindletop launched the modern petroleum industry and led to the founding of many new petroleum companies. Most did not survive long.

As newspapers everywhere published stories about the "black gold" found near Beaumont, Texas, Rockefeller Oil Company was chartered on April 23, 1901, capitalized with $200,000.

The Spindletop oilfield soon produced more oil in one day than all the rest of the world's oilfields combined. In its first year alone, Spindletop produced 3.59 million barrels of oil – climbing to 17.4 million by its second year. Unfortunately for many companies and their investors, the unregulated oil production caused prices to drop from $2 per barrel to less than 25 cents per barrel.

Although Texaco, Gulf, Mobil and Sun oil companies can trace their roots to Spindletop and its nearby oilfields, hundreds lesser funded speculative ventures failed to survive. Oilfield service companies like Beaumont Confederated Oil & Pipeline Company also suffered. On November 30, 1901, United States Investor reported, "The Rockefeller Oil Co. is little known and as it owns no Spindle Top property, we do not think much of it." On May 6, 1903, Rockefeller Oil Company's charter do business was revoked by Texas "for nonpayment of franchise taxes."

Rosson Oil Company

Along the Red River in North Texas, Wichita Falls grew explosively after the opening of the vast Burkburnett oilfield in June 1918. Within three weeks, 56 drilling rigs were at work as close as they could get to the discovery well. Entrepreneurs scrambled to get in on the opportunity.

The "World's Wonder Oilfield" spawned many new oil companies as Wichita Falls bank deposits grew by 400 percent in 1919. There were nine refineries and 47 factories within the city limits by 1920. Oil companies cultivated investors to get money to drill a producing well before the inevitable exhaustion of the field.

Rosson Oil formed in early 1919 largely funded with investors' money. By May 1919 its first well in the Burkburnett field (Van Cleave lease) reached 1,800 feet deep without striking oil – a dry hole, which often proved lethal to any under capitalized business. Rosson Oil sold stock to fund drilling and went broke after failing to find oil.

Ruby Hill Oil & Gas Company

Ruby Hill Oil & Gas Company stock was promoted at five cents per share in 1930 and the company drilled near Denver, in 1934. Its No. 1 Braden well in Jefferson County, stalled for a year – then resumed "making hole" in 1935.

The company apparently failed, as its stock certificates are valued only by collectors for their artistic and historic value.

TOYAH BELL ENCOUNTERS HARD LIME

Pecos, Tex., Oct. 14.—After drilling through 800 feet of rock salt formation the drill of the Toyah Bell Oil company has reached a hard lime rock. The rock salt formation is reported to be one of the deepest found originally struck at 800 feet and continued in an almost solid mass to 1630 feet. Analysis of this formation shows it to contain rock salt in commercial quantity and a good content of potash.

Arrangements to continue the well until oil is struck or to more than 2000 feet have been completed. C. H. Willoughby has taken a big interest in the Toyah Bell Oil company No. 2. Mr. Willoughby represents the Pecos Natural Oil company.

C. A. Andre, formerly field superintendent of the Bell interests, is to drill a deep test in the Pecos field.

Another heavy flow of artesian water has been struck by the Arthur Pitts Oil company, of Texas. This flow is in the Valley Well, struck at 1357 feet, and exceeds that from the River well of the same company. Lakes have formed about both wells and the surplus water is diverted into the river or the irrigation ditches of the country to the east of Pecos. The flow in the River was shut off by casing without much trouble, but is still coming from the outside. The flow in the Valley well is to be handled in the same manner.

The El Paso Saragosa Oil company has found the first flow of water in its well 20 miles south of Pecos at 407 feet and is setting 12½-inch casing at just beyond that depth.

A burned out boiler is delaying operations at the Bell-Reeves. A truck dispatched to El Paso in the hope of securing the needed flue was unable to find the size needed and is returning to Pecos. Meanwhile some flues that can be used were located in the Pecos field, and on the arrival of J. M. Booth and J. F. Wingate, the managers, it is expected that these flues will be secured.

EL PASO HERALD

Called By Wire
Drillers of the Pecos Natural Oil Company's well wired C. H. Willoughby to come. "Hole 1960 feet in lime." Account of gas showing reported the 5th, something more important is expected. Mr. Willoughby left last night with the warning that the books will close immediately if conditions at the well justify.—The Pecos Natural Oil Co., 208 1/2 South Summit, phone 135. Inter-Nation Unity Achieving Results in Latin America

A general view of a session of the Organization of American States Council, meeting in Panama City, Panama.

Journalism to physics and chemistry.

In another direction is the intensified OAS work being done toward eradicating malaria and other communicable diseases throughout the Western Hemisphere.

By establishing the Inter-American Nuclear Energy Commission, the OAS is implementing peaceful applications of the atom. In all, the Organization of American States, which has its headquarters here in Washington, D. C., has nearly two dozen social, economic or technical programs under way.

Beyond this 21-nation development program, the United States, independently, is implementing an immediate $600 million aid program in Latin America in supplement.

Economic development has high priority in both these attacks on Latin American poverty, ignorance and lack of social justice.

PERHAPS the most significant economic development of recent years has been the creation of the new Inter-American Development Bank, established with resources from the American republics, not only lending its own money, but by encouraging private investments.

By far the biggest share of this new international bank's funds comes from the United States, although contributions have been made by 19 other Hemisphere republics.

These programs cannot, of course, in themselves solve all the major problems faced by the American republics. However, by co-ordinating, as they do, the skills and resources of the 21 countries in unified effort, they fill a needed and vital role directed toward raising living standards in the Western Hemisphere, geared to the philosophy of an ancient Chinese proverb:

"If you plant for a year, plant grain
"If you plant for 10 years, plant trees
"If you plant for 100 years, plant men."

WASHINGTON—Designed to the premise that it is people who must be aided if living standards and under-development are to be conquered, a demonstration of inter-nation unity is today achieving unique and practical results throughout Latin America.

Education is the magic weapon in this program jointly sponsored by the 21 American republics who are members of the Organization of American States.

Under this plan training centers are located in 12 American countries. In them, over 1,500 Latin Americans each year now receive advanced training to apply their skills to the solution of problems ranging from housing and rural education, from foot-and-mouth disease to the production of iron and steel.

Since its initiation in 1950, this OAS sponsored and directed program has trained more than 6,500 people, primarily professional personnel or technicians, through 17 individual projects. Typical of these is the seven-year-old Inter-American Rural Education Center in Rubio, Venezuela.

Each year, several dozen normal-school teachers, selected by their own governments, come to Rubio to learn how to make rural schools more effective.

Centers of Latin American villages of the 21 republics are growing at the rate of six million annually, under-development permeates much more than just the rural education system.

In Latin America today, where the 200-million inhabitant problem is being attacked at the OAS Inter-American Housing Center in Bogota, Colombia, where architects, engineers, economists and social workers train colleagues from 18 states to attack the tremendous problem of providing low-cost housing for people who can scarcely afford any housing at all.

ONE of the most popular projects in this varied work is the OAS Fellowship Program which provides paid-up scholarships to men and women to study medicine, dentistry, health techniques and social services in recognized centers.

The Fellowship's contribution to industrial development is illustrated by 16 key employees of Latin American steel mills, all graduate engineers, now taking extensive training in Pittsburgh, Pa. In addition, fellowships for 1960-61 have been awarded in 20 other professions, ranging from law and

BIBLE READING in Spanish is not unusual in the Dick Branch home, 128 S. Church. Mr. Branch, now educational director of the First Methodist Church, and his wife are missionaries in Venezuela. They are in the United States on a year's furlough. Mrs. Branch is shown reading the Spanish Bible while her small son, Paul, Wilma, 3, her daughter, Vicki, 5, and her husband look on. (Paris News Staff Photo.)

New Education Director Is Venezuelan Missionary

By KATHRYNE CHODK... Mrs. Branch will use a real live American Bible Church this Christmas for the first time in their lives, after their parents, the Rev. and Mrs. Dick Branch, missionaries in Venezuela, are perhaps a part of the family. In South America they use Santa's picture in magazines and publications. Mr. Branch is serving as educational director of the First Methodist Church with assistance in the summer when he and his family will return to their home state, where he is a pastor in the American Children's School. He teaches the young grades in a Sunday school which includes Spanish language work. The people are children of American missionaries and the school is sponsored by The Evangelical Alliance of America (TEAA). TEAA sponsors the missionaries in 18 countries. Mr. and Mrs. Branch also do voluntary work in the Houston School Improvement Fund of the Spanish National Church in Dallas. His wife is a teacher and has charge of the church school. Inter-Nation Unity Gets Results In Latin America

A general view of a session of the Organization of American States Council, meeting in Panama City, Panama.

WASHINGTON—Designed to the premise that it is people who must be added if living standards and under-development are to be improved, a demonstration of inter-nation unity is today achieving concrete and practical results throughout Latin America.

Education is the magic weapon in this program jointly sponsored by the 21 American republics who are members of the Organization of American States.

Under this plan training centers after 10 months of stiff studies are located in 13 American countries. In Latin America today, where there are more than 100 million inhabitants, the advanced training to apply scientific methods to the solution of problems ranging from housing and rural development to the production of iron and steel.

Since its inception in 1952, the OAS sponsored and directed program has trained more than 4,000 people, primarily professional, technical, engineers, economists and so on.

Each year, several dozen normal school teachers, selected by their own governments come to Rio de Janeiro to study at the school's centers of Latin American village life, the Fulbright paid-up scholarships to study medicine, law and dentistry, and so on.

The Fulbright's contribution to the program is to provide the salaries of 13 key employees of Latin American and to provide training in Pittsburgh, Pa. In addition, fellowships for 1961 have been awarded to 25 other students, ranging from law and journalism to physics and chemistry.

Soldier on Duty in Aleutians Likes His Paper

Although the Star-Telegram is a month late in getting to the Aleutian Islands, "it is like an old friend whom one has not seen for years," Charles H. Willoughby Jr., 2708 Bomar, has written to the newspaper from that Alaskan outpost.

"I read everything and then pass the paper on to others," Willoughby adds. "We storm the post-office whenever mail comes in. If only everyone knew how much photos mean to men overseas, I believe the government would build a 10,000,000 film factory. Thanks again for the paper."

Willoughby is among the many men now overseas who are receiving papers brought to the newspaper's main office by readers, which are wrapped and mailed at the Star-Telegram's expense. They can be sent to sailors, marines and coastguardsmen anywhere, and to Army men in this country. It is necessary to bring to the newspaper a letter from any man with an APO address, specifically requesting that the papers be sent to him.

This service was instituted by the Star-Telegram last winter, when the newsprint shortage made it impossible to accept subscriptions, and the newspapers brought to the Star-Telegram office will continue to be mailed in this manner until further notice.

DIVORCED AND WED,
ALL IN 5 MINUTES

Ex-Wife Is Witness; Second Mate to Live With First.

Greenland, Ark.—Charles Howard Willoughby, fifty-one, oil operator and prospector, defied conventions, as well as all the known rules on the "Etiquette of Love," here when he secured a divorce, and within five minutes' time had remarried, with his ex-wife serving as witness.

It was all very simple in the Willoughby manner.

A property settlement was agreed upon between Willoughby and his former wife, Mrs. Eva Willoughby, before they appeared before Chancellor Lee Seamster at Fayetteville, for a divorce.

"We just couldn't make it go, that was all," was the way Willoughby explained the break.

But don't think for a minute that the oil operator has anything personal against wife No. 1.

Far from that.

Just to show that everything is all right, wife No. 1 will continue to live in the Willoughby home here, and wife No. 2, Mrs. Lalla Baylor McBride of Tulsa, Okla., has consented to this.

It seems that the divorce and remarriage was all part of a plan whereby all interested parties participated and every one seemed to be happy in doing so.

Immediately following the granting of the divorce Willoughby was married to wife No. 2 with the Rev. T. T. Harrison, a Methodist pastor, performing the ceremony.

Wife No. 1, and Charles Willoughby, Jr., a twenty-one-year-old son of the couple by the first marriage, were the witnesses at the ceremony. Two other children, a boy, twelve, and a girl, five, daughters of wife No. 1, will now be taken care of by two mothers.

Wife No. 1 not only signed the marriage license as a witness for her husband's second marriage, but also signed the necessary bond when her former husband obtained the marriage license.

'OIL MAGNET' BRINGS FEDERAL FRAUD ORDER

Arkansas Promoter and Wife Named for Selling Stock Through the Mail.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 25. — Mr. and Mrs. Charles Howard Willoughby, owners of a wildcat oil well seven miles south of here, which has gained considerable notoriety here, are named in a fraud order issued by Postmaster-General New at Washington.

The "doodle-bug," a so-called oil locating magnet, led to trouble for the Willoughbys, who have been operating here and at Fort Worth, Tex. Willoughby represents himself to be a "scientific engineer."

According to Postoffice inspectors, Willoughby since 1919, has been engaged in a series of oil promotions. He has sent out large quantities of circulars, matter soliciting remittances through the mail as the purchase price of so-called interest, they said.

Solicits Funds by Circulars.

In one of his circulars, Willoughby says: "The doodle bug has got their goat. It is time to speak. It is time to tell of the few disappointments yet to come; also to foretell of gusher production near those spots that have given most encouraging indications of a great oil field."

The circular continues: "All that is necessary to make a great success is to know where the oil is hidden, and that is what my instrument is for. It has been proved successful."

In issuing the fraud order against Willoughby at Washington, the Solicitor said:

"The evidence shows that a great deal of drilling has been done on locations selected by Willoughby upon a basis of indications furnished by his so-called 'doodle bug,' but in no instance of which any record is available has a paying well been secured. Willoughby told inspectors who investigated his case that in his nine years of business he never had paid any dividends to investors in his scheme. He also admitted that no oil has been produced by him through employment of the 'doodle bug' and that the only well drilled by Willoughby in recent months is in the 'wildcat' territory approximately 150 miles from the nearest production."

Leased 10,000 Acres Last Spring.

Willoughby came to Fayetteville last spring and started his wildcat project nine miles south of Fayetteville. He leased 10,000 acres in Washington County and immediately began drilling. Several months ago he reported a large showing of gas in his well, and many visitors have been entertained by the spectacle of going to the well to see the burning "gas."

Willoughby explained that the fire could be snuffed out or lighted at will. He said that a commercial quantity of gas would be reached at a greater depth, although the well has only been drilled 700 feet. The holidays of Willoughby were increased recently, when he leased 800 acres in the vicinity of Winslow.

Denies Gasoline Taken From Plane

Fayetteville Airport Caretaker Says He Guarded Ship

FAYETTEVILLE--Charles Willoughby Jr., caretaker of the Fayetteville airport Tuesday insisted that gasoline was not stolen from the plane piloted here last week-end from Chicago by Byrnes Walker. The plane crashed Monday near Lowell, and Walker said at the time that the fuel tank gauge had been tampered with and did not show that the fuel was low. Walker said that when he landed here Saturday he had an adequate supply of gas.

In a telegram Tuesday to Willoughby, Walker said no blame was attached to Willoughby in connection with the incident. "You should be commended for your efforts to improve the airport," the message said.

Willoughby said he considered the statement that gasoline had been stolen from the plane was a reflection on him as he said he guarded the plane during the two nights it was on the local airfield. Willoughby said also that when Walker, who was piloting the plane, and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Phillips, also of Chicago, owners of the ship, prepared to take off Monday morning, two cylinders were missing and the plane consequently was underpowered. Willoughby also said that the lack of gas was due to rapid fuel consumption flying against a head wind from Springfield to Fayetteville and running of the motor on the airport for an hour and a half.

Delicious Dishes From Leftovers in Cookbooklets

To use leftovers skillfully so that they are not recognized as such, sounds like a job for a wizard, but a glance at "500 Delicious Dishes from Leftovers," the second in the Northwest Arkansas Times series of 20 cookbooklets is enough to convince us that even an inexpensive homemaker can perform miracles.

Every woman who plans meals on a budget is interested in saving money and economy is one of the features of this remarkable booklet. However, from the finished product, you would never guess that these sumptuous dishes cost so little to prepare. For instance, the delightful Shepherd's Pie, illustrated here, is made of leftover lamb and mashed potatoes— an excellent way to use the remains of that leg of lam or lamb roast from Sunday's dinner.

It's a great source of satisfaction to know that nothing is wasted—that good use is made of every bit of food you purchase, and it's even more satisfying to know that while you save money, you can still serve attractive and

As Reburial Date Nears

Despondent Over Wife's Death, Man Kills Self

Charles Howard Willoughby Jr., 44, had never been the same since his wife, Lois, died of a stroke when they were living in Fairbanks, Alaska, in February 1957. When he came back here a year ago, he brought her body for reburial.

Then he had his mother, Mrs. Eva Willoughby, come down here from her Oklahoma home to live with him at 8512 Pate Dr.

When October came this year, he stopped working as an electrician, saddened over the approaching anniversary of his wife's reburial here and the Oct.

15 date that would have been their 27th wedding anniversary.

His mother suffers from glaucoma, and has difficulty seeing. Wednesday her son told her, "When we get to heaven, I'll be with Lois again and you won't even need glasses to see."

Then he handed her the telephone number of a preacher. "If you ever need a minister, he's a good one," he said.

At 2 a. m. Thursday, as was his lifelong custom, he got up and dressed. He awakened his mother and began reading the Wednesday evening paper.

"I don't know how you get along with so little sleep," his mother chided him. "I couldn't do it at my age."

Willoughby smiled at his mother and said, "But I'll never be that old, mother."

Later Mrs. Willoughby heard a noise in the attached garage and went to investigate.

Because of her failing eyesight, she had to grope with her hands on the floor until she struck a pool of blood.

Peace Justice Boorman ruled Willoughby took his own life by placing a 20-gauge shotgun to his neck and pulling the trigger.

The mother, alone at the home Thursday morning, pondered how she could get word to Willoughby's son, Charles Robert Willoughby, a missionary living with his wife and two children in Colombia, South America.

Other survivors include a brother, Jay Joe Willoughby, and a sister, Mrs. June Bowman, both of Midwest City, Okla.

Robertson-Mueller-Harper will handle funeral arrangements.

Two Hurt in Wrecks Reported Recovering

Two persons hurt in separate car wrecks Wednesday afternoon were recovering in hospitals Thursday.

Mrs. Edith Runyon, 44, of Hurst, received a broken right arm when the car in which she was riding overturned on Precinct Line Rd. near Highway 183. She was termed in fair condition at St. Joseph's Hospital.

In satisfactory condition at Fort Worth Osteopathic Hospital was Billy W. Brown, 40, of 4009 Micki Lynn, who suffered chest injuries when his car overturned on the West Freeway near Forest Park Blvd.

Resident, 44, Found Dead by Mother

Funeral arrangements are being made by Robertson-Mueller-Harper for Charles Howard Willoughby Jr., 44, who was found ~~not~~ to death early Thursday.

Willoughby's body was discovered in the garage of his home, 3512 Pate, by his mother, who went to investigate a noise.

Willoughby had been shot in the neck with a 20 gauge shotgun. Peace Justice Boorman ruled the death a suicide.

Mrs. Eva Willoughby, the man's mother, said he had been despondent since the death of his wife, Lois, in Fairbanks, Alaska, in 1957.

Mrs. Willoughby, who made her home with her son, has difficulty seeing. She discovered her son's body by groping until her hands struck a pool of blood.

Also surviving are a son, Charles Robert Willoughby, who is in Colombia, South America; a brother, Jay Joe Willoughby, and a sister, Mrs. June Bowman, both of Midwest City, Okla.

NATHAN B. BRADLEY.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. Friday in Owens & Brumley Chapel for Nathan Bennett Bradley, 86, of 3466 Boyce. Bradley died Wednesday night in a rest home. He suffered a stroke about three weeks ago. Bradley moved to Fort Worth from Cleburne 20 years ago when he retired as a Santa Fe Railway employe. The California native came to Texas with his parents when he was 4 and settled near Cameron. Survivors are a son, Richard N. Bradley of Fort Worth; three daughters, Mrs. Melba Belcher and Mrs. R. P. SEEK HYMEN'S ALTAR

Shinkle-Gwin Nuptials Last Night
Followed by Willoughby-Bingley Wedding.

Mr. Vincent G. Shinkle and Miss Fay Gwin were married at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gwin, 102 E. Chestnut street at 8 o'clock last evening. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. J. Coker pastor of the M. E. Church in the presence of the immediate relatives. After congratulations the merry bridal party adjourned to the dining room where an elegant banquet was served.

The contracting parties are well known in Chanute, having made their home here for more than a year. The bride is a handsome, charming young woman, whose genial disposition and attractive personality have won her a large circle of friends and acquaintances. The groom is manager of the Santa Fe Oil and Gas company and is largely interested in the Kansas field, having a number of rigs at work here. He is an energetic, successful business man. Mr. Shinkle came to Chanute from Bloomington, Ill., about a year ago but is now thoroughly identified with the interests of the city which he has chosen for his home.

The young couple left on the morning train for Kansas City on a bridal tour. They will be at home to their friends after their return at 1020 S. Grant avenue. The out-of-town guests were Mrs. Reynolds of Illinois, and Dr. E. C. Reynolds of Iola, an aunt and cousin of the bride. Mr. and Mrs. Shinkle were the recipients of many handsome and valuable wedding presents.

On Wednesday evening at 8:30 o'clock, Mr. Chas. H. Willoughby was united in marriage to Miss Hazel Dell Bingley, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Emma Bingley, 1322 S. Santa Fe avenue, the Rev. H. J. Coker officiating. The bride looked very pretty in a gown of all white, while the groom wore the conventional black. Mrs. Willoughby was born and raised in Chanute and Mr. Willoughby has lived here since early childhood and both are well and favorably known by a large circle of friends. They will begin housekeeping at once at 1326 S. Santa Fe ave.

The presents were numerous and useful. After congratulations were offered the following guests were seated at an elaborate supper. Besides the immediate family there were Mr. and Mrs. George Balch, grand parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Willoughby, Sr., Messrs. Elmer and Jasper Willoughby, Thos. Bolen and T. P. Curley, and Misses Pearl and Flora Willoughby, Belle Browning, Gussie Bertram and Elanche Tye.

Goodfellows...

"A good heart's worth gold."

A thoughtful little girl attaches this P. S. to her Goodfellow appeal—"Franklin St. is the first street north of Henderson Street Bridge on the Jacksboro Highway." Mr. Goodfellow, unlike Santa, drives no sleigh and reindeer through the night sky. He is most thankful for little P. M.'s street directions.

She begins:

"Dear Goodfellows:

"I would like for you to bring my little brothers some clothes and shoes for school and toys. The ages are 3, 5, 8, 11, 13. Four boys and one girl. My mother has been dead since Sept. 24 and my daddy has not got a steady job. . . . I would thank you very much."

The Goodfellow fund was to be richer Monday by $18.38 because a boy whose father has been in the Aleutians since June and will not be home for Christmas wants other children to have a happier holiday than he is anticipating.

Charles Robert Willoughby, 12-year-old seventh grade student of Meadowbrook Junior High School, collected that sum Sunday in the WILLOUGHBY.

Boy, 12, Sends Goodfellow Fund $18.38

The Goodfellow Fund will be enriched by $18.38 because a boy whose father is in the Aleutians wants other children to have a happier Christmas Day than he is anticipating.

Charles Robert Willoughby, 12-year-old seventh grade student of Meadowbrook Junior High School, collected that sum Sunday afternoon in denominations ranging from dollar bills to pennies and plans to continue the collection in the neighborhood surrounding his home at 2708 Bomar.

"I want to help give other children a happy Christmas because with daddy away ours won't be," Charles said referring to his mother.

His father, Charles H. Willoughby Jr., has been in the Aleutians since June where he is a civilian employe of the electrical engineering section of the Army. He was formerly employed by the Wills Electric Company here.

Willoughby Goes To Dallas.

..C. H. Willoughby, assistant state manager of the Praetorians with headquarters in this city will go to Dallas, Texas, where he and State Manager, Mr. R. W. Crurch, of Pittsburg Kans., will endeavor to get through a gilt edge contract for organizers and if they succeed the first of the year will find them extending the order throughout the state. Mr. Willoughby ever progressive has been working out the plans to adopt instead of the old, worn-out lodge system, a club feature and if approved by the supreme officers will in turn be submitted to the local council. Once understood there is no doubt but what the plan will be put into effect, he thinks. With a man like Willoughby always courteous, honest, standing squarely for the right and ever working, we can see nothing but unlimited success and we wish him more.

STORM AND SEVERE
WEATHER DOES NOT STOP THE PRAETORIANS.

With the worst storm of the winter and probably the worst one in many years the Praetorians added thirteen new members to the roster the past week and every indication points to the winning of the regalia and uniforms promised by Supreme Council free for fifty new members here in January. The regalia has not been won yet but the way most of the members are helping means that if the rest of the members will wake up we will win in a walk and once we get the team work in full sway together with all the fun we have always had the social features alone will be more than worth the costs.

Praetorians, tell your friends you want them to join now as their application, just now, means a great deal to you, the local council and to the new ones going in as they will have to help buy the regalia a little later if they put it off. Tell them about the fun and one of us deputies will explain the insurance. You or any one interested can call me now at phone 569 and remember that the books close here on the 27th. of Jan. and that all your applicants must be examined not later than the 27th. Get your friend to-day. Remember Praetorians and friends it is better to act today than to regret tomorrow. Bring your friends to the hall Monday or next Wednesday evening. Win the $20.00. Coffeyville has its share of widows and orphans now who were left penniless and there should be no potter's field for you as you are able to pass an examination today. Don't say you can't afford to insure just now. Your wife can pay the bills and later if you are insured. Phone 569 and a deputy will be sent to see you.

Worthy Praetorian:—

Your favor of the 2nd asking if a Praetorian is obliged to enter the U. S. army, navy, etc., and should be injured losing a hand or foot or both hands, or both feet, or one hand and one feet, or both eyes, or should die or be killed while in service, and while in good standing, what would he or his beneficiary be entitled to?

In regard to the above would say that the constitution or the Order does not make any restrictions as to military service in defense of this country, and such member would be entitled to the full benefits of his certificate just as much so as if he had never joined the army, navy, etc.

Something You Ought to Know

PRAETORIAN TWENTY PAY LIFE

Full face value. Every payment is a cash savings as you may withdraw the full cash value at the end of twenty years. Paid up and extended values after two years. If forced to suspend you do not lose.

A $5,000.00 CERTIFICATE PAYS:

|---|-------------|----------------|
| For accidental loss of one hand | $ 1,250.00 | |
| For accidental loss of one foot | $ 1,250.00 | |
| For total disability | $ 2,500.00 | Payments cease |
| For accidental loss of both eyes (full amount) | $ 5,000.00 | Payments cease |
| For accidental loss of both hands (double) | $10,000.00 | Payments cease |
| For accidental loss of both feet (double) | $10,000.00 | Payments cease |
| For accidental loss of one hand and one foot (double) | $10,000.00 | Payments cease |

Smaller Amounts in proportion

If desired the above described certificate will be paid to the family in monthly payments of $50.00 each for a period of ten years or a total of $6,000.00 for the regular premium. Premium age 30 years. Annually for $5,000.00, $124.75.

RESERVE

The full legal reserve as required by law is maintained. Present reserve of more than $68.00 per member per capita. Larger than any other American society. Twenty-one years of steady growth during which time we have passed through panics, war and the flu epidemic have proven that the Praetorian plans are in a class all their own for safe, sound, reliable insurance. After paying the war and flu losses a gain of $119,000.00 is shown in the society's assets. What better recommendation could be asked?

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE.

By comparing the above with any insurance you may have you will find some very pleasant surprises as there are many features not provided in the average insurance contract. The outstanding difference for the average person is that there is no real reserve being accumulated to take care of the cost of your insurance when you have grown old and the natural result is that you pay more and more as the years go by. Old age if provided for, should be your happiest. A Praetorian twenty pay life is one of the best and safest provisions you can make. Within the reach of every home as you may make the payments on the monthly plan if desired. SHE left a good home for you. Would you leave her one if you should be called to the great unknown?

Praetorians Growing Rapidly.

The "Praetorians," an insurance and social organization which was organized in this city last October has made a very rapid growth and Assistant State Manager C. H. Willoughby says that his dream of one thousand members in Coffeyville will soon come true at the rate the organization has been growing.

There are a score of reasons why the Praetorians have and will continue to grow but the important one is the fact that every member is a booster and there are no meetings but what are well attended and a good time always awaits the crowd.

The supreme council has offered a complete set of regalia to the Coffeyville council if on the October report we have not less than three hundred in good standing. Since we have written more than one hundred in six weeks and initiated a class of fifty-six last Wednesday evening there is no doubt but what we will get the regalia and once we get it the "Praetorian goat" will be some animal.

As a further reward to the members I want to say that if we win this regalia there will be a dancing instructor furnished free to the members beginning with the first meeting night in October and arrangements will be made whereby all Praetorians who wish to dance may do so without interfering with business meeting. Our next season's dancing shall be for Praetorians only as we now have members enough to fill the large Moose hall.

The Praetorians have to offer, ten, fifteen and twenty year policies with paid up and extended values. If you lapse out after three years you don't lose what you have paid in. You also get good substantial accident benefits; the insurance is not cheap but substantial and instead of having your rate raised every few years you quit paying even the local dues after 10, 15 or twenty years.

The Praetorians have over $65.00 per member per capita in the reserve fund or more than any order any of you belong to who may read this, so why hesitate in taking a membership when one monthly payment will pay all first costs and put your insurance in force until August 1st.

We have the Moose hall full of the best citizens in the city and extend an invitation to all our worthy neighbors to come in now while the charter is yet open.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Willoughby to Make Home in This City

W. H. Willoughby who came here recently as assistant state agent for the Praetorians, likes the city and its business aspect so well that he has decided to make headquarters here and will in the near future either buy or build a home.

Mr. Willoughby is introducing a new and very interesting feature in life insurance, a fraternal insurance with all of the old line insurance benefits with it, and he is meeting with exceptional favor with our people. The Praetorians is not a lodge yet it carries all of the fraternal insurance benefits, it is not an old line insurance company but combines the old line benefits. It is an insurance company with a legal reserve that has kept on growing despite of the ravages of the war and flu.

TO GIVE BANQUET

Manager Willoughby of Praetorians
Will be Host to Four Hundred
Members and Families.

Assistant State Manager C. H. Willoughby of the Praetorians will banquet over four hundred people at the Moose hall next Wednesday night the banqueters consisting of the members of the lodge in this city and their families. It will be one of the largest banquets ever attempted in this city and will be one of the most pleasant as an entertainment is planned for the guests after the big feed.

The program as arranged will consist of a playette by local talent, musical selections by an orchestra and four other features. The big hall will be crowded with tables and the tables loaded with all the good things the market affords. Every member of the lodge will be invited and it is certain that everyone invited will attend.

Manager Willoughby has proved himself one of the live wire insurance men of the state and his abilities have been recognized by his company in the substantial manner of making him assistant state manager. He organized the local chapter a few weeks ago and has enrolled over 200 members in a very short time, making this lodge one of the strongest in the United States.

The Praetorians is one of the very few companies that took insurance from the soldiers, and at the banquet next Wednesday night there will be a big delegation from the local militia units as many of the members of the companies have enrolled in the Praetorians as well as in the army.

Working on New Lodge Plan.

R. W. Church of Pittsburg, state manager for the Praetorians, and his assistant, C. H. Willoughby of this city, leave today for Dallas, Texas, on business for the interest of the order in Kansas. Both of these men have established a remarkable record the past year in the production of personal business but the first of the year they are going to give more time to the field men and expect to return home with the best contract for organizers that has ever been offered by a fraternal society. Mr. Willoughby hopes to get the consent of the Supreme office to discontinue the ritualistic work and adopt in its place a club feature, which he has been working on quietly for several months. A well managed club is needed in Coffeyville, he says, and once the consent of the president is given the plans will be fully explained to the members and, if approved, the Praetorians will take a step forward and out of the old rut, the present lodge system.

Fraternal Protection or Fraternal Insurance?

“It is not sufficient merely to protect the members for the passing day or year; the fraternal system must put itself in a position to cover the youngest recruit on its rolls, through the longest life he may be destined to live; for only this is real insurance”. Wm. F. Barnard, Actuary.

Insure With the Praetorians

The society is in that required position to insure you at one cost for your longest day with your family and with this assurance you are in a position to enjoy life. We do not hesitate to ask you through the Advocate to investigate our plans nor to look over the books as our membership is composed of only true blood citizens. We start a drive for one hundred members Monday July, the eighth and will appreciate a chance to present our policy. Each old and new member will be paid well for assisting in this drive and the membership fee will be placed at rock bottom.

Brotherhood of American Yeomen

The Brotherhood of American Yeomen, founded in 1897, was one of a vast number of fraternal benefit assessment societies established toward the end of the 19th century. The lodges were called Homesteads, and there was a strong Christian element to the rituals and ceremonies, which also praised the Magna Carta and the English language. The Homesteaders was a result of a schism within the Yeomen.

In 1917, the Yeomen changed its financial footing to assure greater stability, and in 1931 it transformed itself into the Mutual Life Insurance Company. The order is now extinct.

The order has one degree, the initiation. The ritual is placed in the time of Walter Scott's Ivanhoe. At the King's court a candidate is initiated in the spirit of knighthood and the themes of the order: Wisdom, Charity and Protection.

A split-off of this group was the Homesteaders.

Homesteaders

The Homesteaders was founded in 1906 as a fraternal insurance society for men and women in the United States and Canada who were "first-class risks, physically and morally." The society is now extinct, and has no connection with a 1978 "back-to-the-earth" movement of the same name.

The Brotherhood of American Yeoman used the word "Homesteads" for its Lodges. In 1906, two officers of the American Yeomen (John E. Paul and Clarence B. Paul) were forced to resign their posts. They took from their former employers the word "homestead," a certain number of Rituals and Ceremonies, and a fair number of members. Although the organization is now extinct, the ritual is interesting.

Both men and women were admitted from the start, and the organization prospered. By 1920, it had 30,000 members in 23 states, plus Canada. In 1923, however, the group decided to change its fraternal ways and became a nonfraternal insurance organization under the name of The Homesteader's Life Association. The changeover is described in the Fraternal Monitor for November 1923. In 1932 it merged with the Golden West Life Insurance Association, formerly the Fraternal Brotherhood, and in 1948 it changed its name again to become the Homesteader's Life Company; the standard progression for a financially well-run mutual insurance company.

The organization was on the usual three-tier system, with Grand Homesteads and a Supreme Homestead; the latter met quadrennially.

The ritual was based on a dramatization of life in a pioneer village. The candidate was seized as a spy by the somewhat paranoid pioneers, who would then suggest that he be "bound to the back of a wild horse and burning brands attached to its heels, then turn them loose to wander upon the plains until he be dragged to the death befitting a spy."

Momentarily recoiling from such equine incendiarism, they would then decide to give him a chance to prove himself by rescuing the wife and daughter of a pioneer who is long overdue from the East. After a sequence of Indian attacks and so on, he would rescue the two ladies, though the missing pioneer dies on a stretcher as he is being carried back to the "barricade" an interesting variation on the usual death theme, with skeletons and coffins. There was also a strong patriotic element, with an annual flag day.

TOYAH BELL ENCOUNTERS HARD LIME

Pecos, Tex., Oct. 14.—After drilling through 800 feet of rock salt formation the drill of the Toyah Bell Oil company has reached a hard lime rock. The rock salt formation is reported to be one of the deepest found originally struck at 800 feet and continued in an almost solid mass to 1630 feet. Analysis of this formation shows it to contain rock salt in commercial quantity and a good content of potash.

Arrangements to continue the well until oil is struck or to more than 2000 feet have been completed. C. H. Willoughby has taken a big interest in the Toyah Bell Oil company No. 2. Mr. Willoughby represents the Pecos Natural Oil company.

C. A. Andre, formerly field superintendent of the Bell interests, is to drill a deep test in the Pecos field.

Another heavy flow of artesian water has been struck by the Arthur Pitts Oil company, of Texas. This flow is in the Valley Well, struck at 1357 feet, and exceeds that from the River well of the same company. Lakes have formed about both wells and the surplus water is diverted into the river or the irrigation ditches of the country to the east of Pecos. The flow in the River was shut off by casing without much trouble, but is still coming from the outside. The flow in the Valley well is to be handled in the same manner.

The El Paso Saragosa Oil company has found the first flow of water in its well 20 miles south of Pecos at 407 feet and is setting 12½-inch casing at just beyond that depth.

A burned out boiler is delaying operations at the Bell-Reeves. A truck dispatched to El Paso in the hope of securing the needed flue was unable to find the size needed and is returning to Pecos. Meanwhile some flues that can be used were located in the Pecos field, and on the arrival of J. M. Booth and J. F. Wingate, the managers, it is expected that these flues will be secured.

I am sure that every one who knows Brother Charles H. Willoughby Jr. was very glad to have him as a visitor at a recent meeting. Brother Willoughby has been employed for the past five years by the Creole Petroleum Corporation in Tia Juana, Venezuela.

I have just returned from a visit to North Carolina and Washington, D. C. and as in my past visits to Washington, my intentions were to visit our International Office, but something always happens and I never make it. I will next time and I am sure it will be a thrill.

Don't forget to vote and remember it is a privilege.

Modern Order of Craftsmen

A fraternal beneficiary order of this name was founded at Detroit, in 1894, and incorporated under the laws of the State of Michigan, according to the Cyclopedia of Fraternities, 2nd ed., p. 199. We have not been able to get into communication with it and believe it is now extinct.

Modern Order of Praetorians

This is a fraternal insurance society similar to the Modern Woodmen of America. It was organized in 1898, by Charles B. Gardner,¹ and admits men and women on equal terms. It does business in Texas, Oklahoma, Mississippi, Arkansas, Florida, Kansas, Louisiana, Alabama, California, New Mexico, Georgia, Colorado, Illinois, and Washington. There were 599 lodges of this Order on 1 Jan., 1923, with 36,752 benefit members. The "Office of the Supreme Senate" is in the Praetorian Bldg., Dallas, Tex. The M. O. of P. is a secret society, for Article XV of its Constitution says: "Committee on Law and Ritual shall consist of four members, who shall prepare the ritual and may from time to time suggest changes therein, also recommend changes in this Constitution. In it shall be vested the secret work of the Order. . . ." Article VIII of the by-laws mentions an "obligation" taken at initiation. The rates of assessment in this society vary greatly, according to the hazards of each member's vocation or occupation (see Art. XVIII of the Const.). The branches of this Order are known as "Councils," and each "Council," according to Art. I of the by-laws, has the following officers: "Sublime Augustus," "Seignior Tribune," "Junior Tribune," "Worthy Attorney," "Worthy Recorder," "First Centurion," "Second Centurion," "Lygian," "Soothsayer," "Sentinel," "Praetorian Queen," "Worthy Physician," and "Official Musician."

Statistics Fraternal Societies, 1923, pp. 103 sq.—Constitution of the ¹ A biography of Gardner, with a brief sketch of the history of the Modern Order of Praetorians, from the pen of E. J. Dunn, appeared in the Fraternal Monitor, in December, 1920 (Vol. XXXI, No. 5, pp. 16 sq.). We quote a curious passage: "In one of his reminiscent moods he [Gardner] told us [Dunn] that he is a member of the only chapter of a most unique club. It is called the Bone-Head Club and has 57 members—no more, no less. There is a long waiting list and he looked right at us when he so informed us. No new member can be admitted unless some member resigns, is expelled or dies. None resigns, none are expelled and few die. Some of us may have to wait a long time. The '57' is indicative of Heinz' 57 varieties. We are unable to understand what relation pickles can have to such a club and Mr. Gardner did not enlighten us. Possibly the 57 varieties are incorporated in the secret work of the club."

[272]

Modern Order of Praetorians, as Originally Adopted and as Amended up to November 30, 1920, and in Force December 30, 1920, Dallas, Tex., 1920.

Modern Order of the Chaldeans

A fraternal and benevolent association established at Brownsburg, Ind., in 1888, mainly, it seems, in the interests of ordinary workmen. Its chief officer glories in the title of "Grand Illuminator." A letter addressed to the secretary at Brownsburg, Ind., in July, 1923, was returned by the postmaster of that town as "unclaimed." The Order is probably extinct.

La France Antimaçonnique, Vol. XXVII, No. 28, July, 1913, p. 330.

Modern Order of the White Mahatmas

This Order was founded by Fred. R. White, R. Hollingsworth, and Leona White, at Minneapolis, Minn., at a time when that city figured as a "psychic" centre. (See La France Antimaçonnique, Vol. XXVII, No. 28, 10 July, 1913, p. 330.) It seems to have disbanded; at least the post office at Minneapolis professes itself unable to find any such organization (Aug., 1923).

Modern Romans

This secret fraternal insurance and benefit society, organized in 1904, admits both men and women, and offers "protection beyond age 70 and old age benefits at 70, provided for in a separate fund." It has 72 lodges, with a benefit membership of 2,397. The home office is located in the Engelman Block, Manistee, Mich. The name "Modern Romans" was selected "because the founders believed that the ancient Romans well represented the principles of permanency and fidelity." All the policy-holders are divided into ten-year classes. A new "class" begins at the end of each ten-year period and must take care of its own losses until the number of policy-holders becomes less than 1,000, when they become part of the next succeeding "class." The society does not write insurance for children because it "believes that the main object of life insurance is to protect matured men during their producing years." In regard to the society's secret features, the "Supreme Consul, Mr. D. E. Cole, writes: "The society has secret features, but has no connection with any nationality or creed."

Letter from Mr. D. E. Cole, Supreme Consul, dated 9 Aug., 1923.—Propaganda pamphlet, entitled Modern Romans, Manistee, Mich., s. a.—Statistics Fraternal Societies, 1923, pp. 104 sq.

C. H. Willoughby Divorced, Remarried With First Wife Attending Wedding; Family All "Happily Return Home"

It was a case of "off with the old love, on with the new" and no hard feeling anywhere with C. H. Willoughby, well known oil man of Greenland yesterday. A few minutes after Mrs. Eva Willoughby obtained a divorce from Mr. Willoughby, he was married to Mrs. Lalla Baylor McBride of Tulsa, Okla.

The first Mrs. Willoughby signed the bond for the marriage license and remained for the wedding of her former husband to his new wife. Mrs. Willoughby obtained the divorce after a hearing before Judge Lee Seamster yesterday in which their son, Charles Willoughby, Jr., was witness. Property settlement had been agreed on before the couple came into court for the divorce, which was uncontested. Soon after the divorce the marriage was performed by Rev. T. P. Harrison, a minister and deputy county assessor.

"We simply can't make it," Mr. Willoughby said yesterday in telling friends of his divorce. "My wife is fully in sympathy with my plan to marry again and we will all live happily in the same household. I will continue to take care of my first wife and our two minor children. We are all good friends and there is nothing but harmony anywhere."

The family it is understood will all live in the Willoughby home near Greenland, where the new Mrs. Willoughby, her husband, her predecessor and her two newly acquired step-children repaired in the Willoughby family car yesterday afternoon following the divorce and ceremony.

Selling Still Not Used

Home builders in many parts of the country are resorting to price, stunts and gimmicks in efforts to sell homes, but not in Fort Worth.

Builders and brokers here are using a straight selling technique while pointing out that the new low down payments offered under the FHA housing program and the improved methods of construction.

The straight campaign here will get an additional boost soon when members of the Home Builders Association and the Real Estate Board join forces in a drive to convince potential buyers that "now is a good time to buy a home." They will stress the probability of higher prices next year and in years to come.

An Indianapolis builder hires Glines to attract crowds to his model home. In Newark, N. J. the buyer can get a foreign-made automobile with a $18,500 house or a swimming pool with a $29,999 home.

Praetorian Council Opening.
Manager Willoughby of the new Praetorian council of this city announces the formal opening Saturday night was a grand success. Rev. Bovill, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church of this city, made an address which was highly appreciated by an assemblage of members that filled the lodge room. Some of the members saw their new home for the first time and all expressed delight with the pleasant surroundings. The social privileges of the Praetorian council has always been a big drawing card to membership and Mr. Willoughby announces the new council will keep something doing every week. Besides the able talk by Dr. Bovill, others were made by Rev. J. M. Morris and Mr. W. B. Church, prominent Praetorians.

Water Ruins Oil Sand at Willoughby; Will 'Try, Try Again'

Water has ruined the oil sand at Willoughby Well, C. H. Willoughby reported today in a statement issued to interested persons.

Mr. Willoughby feels confident the oil is under the well and plans to continue casing off the water as soon as sufficient money can be secured to resume work.

Still Confident Of Oil

The well must remain shut until he can secure 1250 feet of six and five-eighth inch casing to shut off the water and cement the casing, Mr. Willoughby states. "We expect to hit a better oil sand within a few feet," he reports, continuing with characteristic optimism. "Personally, I am positively convinced we are sitting on top of the world and right here is our opportunity to make the fortune."

Those willing to take a chance are likely to find themselves rich, Mr. Willoughby believes with undaunted faith in his find.

TULSA WORLD GIVES PLAY TO WILLOUGHBY "GASSER"

The Tulsa World of Saturday streamered a story quoting Charles Willoughby, Sr., who predicted a big oil and gas field for Northwest Arkansas and announced that his gasser south of Fayetteville would be opened. The well was drilled in the spring of 1931. Willoughby said he proposes to make an extensive testing of the 476 acre Jones farm and his 2,000 acres of leases acquired. Mr. Willoughby and a party of Tulsans visited the well Sunday.

Educator-Missionary

DR. ALAN HAMILTON

Dr. Alan Hamilton, former educational missionary in South America, will conduct tomorrow's morning worship service at the First Presbyterian Church.

His sermon topic will be "A Faith of Equal Standing." The Chancel Choir will sing.

Dr. Hamilton, designated secretary for leadership of the commission on ecumenical mission and relations of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

after 12 years as educational missionary in South America, has traveled to 19 countries of Latin America, 12 African countries and parts of Europe and the Middle East.

Goal of the commission is to discover and train national persons through their native institutes, suitable universities and seminaries overseas, and scholarships in the United States in order to place overseas church institutions and programs in competent national hands.

Although he has had theological training, Dr. Hamilton has remained a layman to devote himself to education and to move freely about Latin America.

In addition to four earned degrees in the United States, he also has a graduate diploma from the philosophy department of the government university in Venezuela, the first North American to obtain such a degree. During a furlough in 1959-1960, he took a leave of absence and worked as educational supervisor for Creole Petroleum Corporation in western Venezuela.

ROMAN CATHOLIC PRIEST BECOMES PROTESTANT

Dr. Alan Hamilton, principal of the Colegio Americano, Caracas, Venezuela, enrollment of 500, wrote: "A recent and noteworthy addition to our forces is Dr. Oscar Arango, a priest of the Roman Church . . . Our school community which is 50% Roman Catholic, was considerably stirred as Dr. Arango, still in priestly garb, came to the office for a lengthy conversation about Protestant theology and plans for the immediate future. Still greater was the excitement the day he came in a business suit and shortly after, took up his teaching duties. He is a very capable teacher and a devout Christian. The Sunday afternoon he spoke to our business and professional men's discussion group, our large living room was filled . . . Dr. Arango will also be helping us in the development of a new congregation here . . . After another year . . . he will probably spend some time in the Evangelical Theological Seminary in Mantanzas, Cuba. Alan Hamilton Named To Council Post For Presbyterian Missions

After 12 years as an educational missionary in South America, Alan H. Hamilton, Th. D., Franklin native, has been designated Secretary for Leadership Development and Scholarships of the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations of The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A.

Dr. Hamilton is the son of Mrs. Eber C. Hamilton, of Pittsburgh, a former Franklin resident, and of the late Mr. Hamilton.

In keeping with the Commission's goal to place church institutions and programs overseas in competent national hands as quickly as possible, the office seeks to discover and train such persons through the use of institutes in each country, Christian institutions overseas and scholarships in the United States. The Commission directs the overseas work of the Presbyterian Church in 39 countries, and Dr. Hamilton will head the program for the development of leadership in each of these countries.

Although he has had theological training at Dallas Theological Seminary, Dallas, Tex., and Princeton Theological Seminary, Princeton, N. Y., Dr. Hamilton has remained a layman to devote himself to the educational field and to move freely about Latin America. He is a graduate of Albright College, Southern Methodist University and of the Universidad Central de Venezuela. He also spent a year studying with the Committee on Human Development of the University of Chicago.

The Hamilton family is now settled in New York, where his office address is: Dr. Alan H. Hamilton-939, Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations, The United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., 475 Riverside Drive, New York 27, N. Y.

Dr. Alan Hamilton Will Speak Sunday For Presbyterians

The First Presbyterian Church of Franklin will observe Foreign Missions Sunday this Sunday, Feb. 13, with Dr. Alan Hamilton, a son of this congregation, as the guest speaker.

Dr. Hamilton for the past few years has served as a missionary and teacher at Caracas, Venezuela. He is now on furlough from the field and is now attending Princeton University in order to make his work more effective when he returns to Venezuela.

The First Presbyterian Church here has a special interest and concern for the worldwide missions of the church and shares in the support of Dr. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Hazlett and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Prentice, of India.

Mr. and Mrs. Hazlett have been in Loweriston, Dehra Dun, India, where Mr. Hazlett is secretary of the Indian Council, keeping in touch with thousands of persons, many of them Indian and about 200 Americans, who are teachers, missionaries, doctors and other professionals.

They are now on furlough and are planning to be here to speak before the Association of Presbyterian Women on March 8. Their daughter, Sally, was youth director and secretary at the local church during the past summer and is also well-known as a missionary speaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Prentice, who have been in India for several years, have served in a number of different posts, spending much of their time at Allahabad, where Mr. Prentice was treasurer of a college. Mrs. Prentice also served as treasurer of Jurvsia dispensaries. Mr. and Mrs. Prentice are now on furlough in the United States and plan to be in Franklin several times during this leave.

PEGOS OIL FIELD REGISTERS MUCH GENERAL ACTIVITY

At Williams, headquarter of the Pecos Natural Oil Co., and S. M. Wilson, manager of the Pecos field, the representatives of those oil companies interested in the Pecos field, which will make the first oil to be produced in this section, were met after a group of interested oil men had been in the field and watched the drilling. Contracts are expected for the opening of a well, it is thought, in a few days and it is expected to be made to start for the immediate drilling of other wells when the work begins.

Contracts from the well have shown good activity during the past week and appear to be carrying along rapidly. It is thought that the work here during the next few days will have been made to determine the amount of time and space necessary to be given to the Pecos field and to be in line with the remainder of the oil fields in this section.

A lease in the Pecos field was made to be done 1200 feet and to be in line with the remainder of the oil fields in this section. A lease in the Pecos field was made to be done 1200 feet and to be in line with the remainder of the oil fields in this section.

Pecos Natural Stockholders
 Following letter received today from C. H. Willoughby, "Have not shot well, as believe it would be bad thing, and we can plug back at any time. Am now down 2515 and shut down waiting for cash. Log of well as follows:
 Shale 2267, crystalized sand to 2346, salt to 2447, black lime to 2475 free live oil in bailer, lime very porous, hard dark lime to 2400, porous black lime oil saturated to 2500, blue shale to 2515. Thickness of blue shale not determined.
 I must have money to complete this well, and am giving my Arkansas City friends first chance at $1 share. I am confident we have a big thing, but we must have money to complete well. It costs $7 a foot, plus all sorts of expenses. Also must purchase casing. My crew has worked without pay, and now I must settle with them.
 Folks, I have a good thing, and I know it. I want you to share with me. Ask any oil man what the above log indicates. Scouts, field men, Pecos officials and others believe we can make a killing. I am going to drill this well, if we have to go to 4000 feet but if we have to shut down it will cost us $100 a day for the delay. I've been drilling on my nerve, and while it still is good the time has come when only cash counts down here. Must have $2100 by February 5th. Have called mass meeting at Dr. Ayres office for Wednesday evening, and as I cannot be present personally am publishing facts. Here's your chance to get in on a killing. Hi Andre

I am Dawn the one you spoke with, just using this email for now.

Sorry to say I looked up Lois Farmer and Lois Willoughby and was not able to find her. You can get a hold of Vital statistics Alaska to find her death certificate, that would give you almost all the information you are looking for.

As far as I know based on what I know about the Masons you had to be a Mason or spouse to be buried in their section. Policy today is to call the lodge and ask, im guessing they did something similar back then.

If you have any other questions feel free to email me here anytime, or call.

Thanks
